3. CONSULTATION PRECEPTORSHIP COMPONENT PREFERENCES

Consultation Preceptorship Component Preferences

Please order your interest (1-7) in the preceptorship components (subject to availability).

_____ No preference

_____ Resistance Panel participation: The panel consists of antiretroviral clinical and research experts from San Francisco General Hospital, the University of California San Francisco and the Positive Health Program. The panel, co-chaired by Steven Deeks, MD and Betty Dong, PharmD, assembles monthly to review in detail a complicated resistance case in context of antiretroviral treatment strategies.

_____ Warmline expert case consultation: Participants will learn to apply Warmline consultation methodologies by shadowing live calls and contributing to group discussions. Participants will be introduced to the process of identifying callers' underlying educational needs. Session will include extensive discussion of ARV and OI treatment options that are most valuable in strengthening the participants' consultation skills.

_____ PEPline expert case consultation: Participants will observe and participate in the process of applying PEP guidelines and protocols to the nuances of actual exposure cases.

_____ Perinatal Hotline Consultations: Participants will observe and participate in live calls involving perinatal HIV care and HIV testing during labor and delivery. The methodologies and concepts derived from the Warmline consultations are applied to this unique provider population.

_____ Local clinical site case conferencing: Participants will make a site visit to one of the local area clinics for which San Francisco Area AETC faculty members provide case discussion and chart review.

_____ HIV Sub-specialty CQI (Perinatal, STDs, neurology, etc.) Specify (optional): _____ Participants will attend a Warmline/PEPline faculty CQI meeting. During the CQI, faculty members will review consultations and educational cases with UCSF sub-specialists (e.g., neurology, laboratory med, endocrinology, etc.). Methods employed to maintain state-of-the-art faculty member expertise in HIV and PEP consultation will be highlighted.

_____ Other (please specify): _____

Please note: In addition to the components offered above, participants may request that a supplemental clinical experience be added (e.g., HIV Women's Clinic, Tenderloin Clinic, etc.) The Center will need advance notice to schedule as part of the preceptorship and cannot guarantee availability.

Available Dates for Winter 2005-06 (please rank your preference):

_____ November 9-10, 2005      _____ January 18-19, 2006
 _____ December 14-15, 2005 [Closed]
